

IFPM6 PhD School on Forest Policy and Governance

Zvolen, Slovakia, 5–10 May 2026 Linked with the 6th International Forest Policy Meeting (IFPM6), Prague, 12–15 May 2026

Call for Applications is closed. Applicants have already been notified.

Aim

The IFPM6 PhD School on Forest Policy and Governance offers an intensive training and networking opportunity for PhD students working in the fields of forest policy, governance, and related disciplines. The programme will strengthen research skills, enhance publishing capacity, and provide a unique space to exchange ideas with peers and leading experts.

Costs for accommodation and meals will be covered by organizer.

Programme Highlights

- Presentation and Review of PhD Projects – participants present their research and receive structured feedback from peers and experts.
- Publication Workshop – strategies for publishing in high-impact forestry and environmental journals, including responding to reviewers.
- Networking and Collaboration – building connections across institutions and countries for future research.
- Field Excursions – visits to innovative forest policy projects around Zvolen.
- Special Opportunity – the best students will present their work in a dedicated PhD Section at IFPM6, Prague.
