

Topics of dissertation theses for doctoral studies, field of study “Economics and Management of an Enterprise” – academic year 2020-2021

Analysis of parameters decisive for the granting of subsidies to mitigate the effects of bark beetle calamity

Analysis of carbon, economic and energy efficiency on selected object

Bio-economy as a form of innovation

Assessment of environmental policy instruments for effective management of natural resources

Social socio-economic importance of forest ecosystem services and multifunctional forestry

Effect of salvage logging on the economy of forest companies in the Czech Republic

Utilization of accounting for sustainable development at the corporate level

The importance and usefulness of the forest products Chain of Custody Certification