

Extension of the admission deadline for applicants to doctoral study programs / fields at the Faculty of Forestry and Wood Sciences CULS Prague for the academic year of 2019/2020

In accordance with section 3 h) of the Dean's Regulation No. 1 /2019 „Establishing the maximum number of students accepted and the admission conditions for doctoral study programmes/fields of study at the Faculty of Forestry and Wood Sciences, Czech University of Life Sciences Prague for the 2019/2020 academic year“ I extend the deadline for submitting applications to study the following doctoral programs:

Study programmes	Standard time of study	Maximum number of accepted students
		Full-time form	Part-time form
Global Change Forestry	4	2	2
Aplikovaná geoinformatika a DPZ v lesnictví	4	4	2
Applied geoinformatics and remote sensing in forestry	4
Protipožární ochrana lesa, dřevěných materiálů a materiálů na bázi dřeva	4	3	2
Fire Protection of Forest, Timber and Wood-Based Materials	4
Zpracování dřeva a technika v lesním hospodářství	4	1	0
Wood Processing and Forest Machinery	4

Rules for the admission procedure during the extended term:

- 1) Application deadline, application registration fee and delivery of essentials: until 5 September 2019
- 2) Admission Date: September 19, 2019
- 3) Study enrollment deadline: October 1, 2019.
- 4) Other provisions of FLD Dean's Regulation No. 1/2019 remain unchanged.

Prague, 10th July 2019

prof. Ing. Marek Turčáni, PhD.
Dean of the Faculty of Forestry and Wood Sciences, CULS Prague